

K–5 Core Literacy Resource Guide

Teacher and Student Materials

Welcome to Dragonfly®. This program contains print consumables and nonconsumable. Please use this guide as a checklist to manage the receipt of consumable and nonconsumable teacher and student materials.

This program contains both consumable (shipped and replenished every year) and nonconsumable (only shipped in year 1 and not replenished every year) print books.

How will the consumable print books be delivered?

Pallet Delivery

Larger orders will have boxes shipped on a pallet. Master Packing List enclosed in the orange sleeve located on the outside of the pallet.

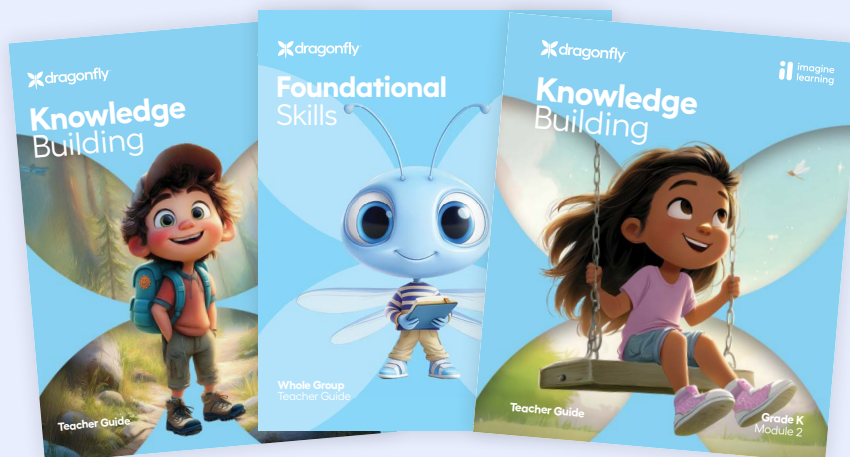

Carton Delivery

Smaller orders come in individual boxes. The master packing slip is located in Carton #1, with the orange “Packing List Enclosed” sticker.

*Most schools will have resources delivered via pallet.

Dragonfly Trade Book Library — Appendix

Trade book libraries put books in students' hands throughout the year, making this resource a central part of daily literacy instruction. Each trade book library contains a collection of engaging and authentic texts, including both fiction and nonfiction, to support deep student engagement with the knowledge building topic across each module.

Trade book counts vary by grade, and guidance around using trade books is provided in the Module and Unit Overviews as well as lesson materials. Library sets include the quantity of books needed to teach each lesson.

Each table lists the trade books included for a grade level, along with the module in which each title is used. An X indicates that the classroom library set includes enough copies of that title to support one or more of the following instructional activities:

- Whole Group: 1 copy for teacher read-alouds or whole-class instruction
- Small Group: Enough copies for groups of 4–5 students
- Partner: Enough copies for students to work in pairs
- Individual: 1 copy per student

For each trade book, the quantity included in the set also supports any instructional activity that requires fewer copies. Classroom library sets are designed for classes of up to 24 students, and add-on packs are available to adjust quantities for different class sizes or instructional needs.
